DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

A Letter to Members and Friends

Happy New Year!

As we begin 2026, the Appleton team joins you in proudly anticipating America's 250th anniversary. We invite everyone to visit the museum and celebrate this milestone by sharing in the beauty and diversity of American art and design through exhibitions, programs and events scheduled throughout the year.

What does it mean to commemorate a yearlong celebration of the 250th (semiquincentennial) anniversary of our nation's founding? It means we've thematically curated the Appleton's world-class art collections to highlight American art and artists. It also means visitors will experience artworks that reflect the freedoms and opportunities we value as Americans.

Our focus on "all things American" will complement our ongoing community partnerships and education outreach. The patriotic spirit will be reflected throughout the galleries and in programs that connect with neighbors across Marion, Citrus and Levy counties, and beyond.

Our founder, Arthur I. Appleton (1915–2008), a World War II veteran and successful entrepreneur, partnered with local leaders to establish the museum that bears his name. From day one, the Appleton has embraced the idea of arts for all. Today, the museum serves as an important CF campus and community hub, celebrating American pride in north central Florida through art and education.

The Appleton exists for you, and because of you, our steadfast members and supporters. If you can help us continue to expand our programs, please share our donation form and encourage others to give in support of the museum.

Sincerely,

COMMUNITY EVENTS

January–April 2026 Free First Saturdays

Discover something new each month on Free First Saturdays! Enjoy free admission, inspiring exhibitions, hands-on art activities and educational programming. While you're here, grab a bite from local food trucks and meet community partners such as the Humane Society of Marion County, LifeSouth Community Blood Centers, and more. Interested in sponsoring a month or more, please contact Jason Steuber at steuberj@cf.edu.

2026 Free First Saturdays: 10 a.m.–5 p.m.

January 3, February 7, March 7, April 4, May 2, June 6,
July 4, August 1, September 5, October 3, November 7, December 5

JANUARY

Film Screening: "The Trip to Italy," (2014, NR, 1h 48m)

January 3, 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Years after their successful restaurant review tour of Northern Britain, Steve Coogan and Rob Brydon are commissioned for a new tour in Italy. Equally hilarious and insightful, "The Trip to Italy" effortlessly melds the crackling chemistry between Coogan and Brydon to create a brilliantly comic rumination on the nuances of friendship and the juggling of family and career. Free to attend.

FEBRUARY

Film Screening: "Quiltmakers of Gee's Bend" (2004, NR, 56m) AND "The Quilting Women of Gee's Bend" (2025, NR, 53m)

February 7, 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., respectively

Inspired by the special exhibition "Under the Cover of Knowledge," see two screenings. At 11 a.m., "Quiltmakers of Gee's Bend" explores the extraordinary lives, inspirations and history of these artists, and also follows them on a poignant and sometimes very comical bus journey to see their quilts exhibited at The Milwaukee Art Museum. At 2 p.m., "The Quilting Women of Gee's Bend" highlights the celebrated quilts made by a community of African American women in rural Alabama. Free to attend. Viewing permissions provided by Alabama Public Television.

MARCH

Talk: "Silver Springs on the Silver Screen" by Dr. David Morton

March 7, 2 p.m.

Dr. David Morton will discuss Florida's springs and their unique role in shaping the American motion picture industry. Featuring iconic films such as "Creature from the Black Lagoon," "Thunderball," "Moonraker," and "Doc Hollywood," along with popular TV shows including "Sea Hunt" and "Sea Quest," Florida's springs have had an outstanding role in creating unique and inventive stories. Free to attend.

APRIL

Artist Talk & Demonstration with A.E. Kozeliski

April 4, 1 p.m.

Exhibiting artist A.E. Kozeliski will discuss the works featured in her solo exhibition, "Portraits in Passing." Learn about her contemporary Chinese brush painting techniques and enjoy a live demonstration in the auditorium. Free to attend.

Please note: For all events, seating in the auditorium is limited to 250 guests on a first-come, first-served basis.

Free First Saturdays are supported in part by CAMPUS USA Credit Union. The March Free First Saturday is additionally supported by Florida Humanities.

My Country, 'Tis of Thee: Celebrating American Art and Design

As the nation approaches its 250th anniversary, “My Country, 'Tis of Thee” celebrates more than three centuries of American art and design.

Drawn from the Appleton’s exceptional permanent collection, the exhibition highlights the wide range of American expression across time periods, subjects, media and functions.

It also explores the pivotal role Florida, and its spectacular natural wonders, including those of Marion County, has played as a source of inspiration for artists. Interwoven throughout the galleries are historical artifacts from north central Florida that remind us of our region’s shared heritage and its place within the broader American story. (Fun fact: Florida became the 27th U.S. state on March 3, 1845.)

“My Country, 'Tis of Thee” honors the enduring spirit of American creativity and pride, reflecting how art continues to shape — and be shaped by — the nation’s collective identity.

Members Reception

Thursday, March 12, 5:30–7:30 p.m.

All Appleton members are invited to celebrate the opening of “My Country, 'Tis of Thee.” Watch for more information coming in February on our website and in a postcard with event details.

“Bay 82,” 2006, Chuck Sharbaugh (American), Furniture, solid wood/veneer, 66 ¼ x 46 ½ x 20 ½ in. closed (h x w x d) and 66 ¼ x 84 x 20 ½ in. open, Gift of the artist.

Through February 22, 2026

Under the Cover of Knowledge: Betty Ford-Smith's Pinecone Quilts

If you haven't yet seen "Under the Cover of Knowledge," there's still time — this vibrant exhibition of pinecone quilts by Betty Ford-Smith is on view through February 22.

A pinecone quilt is a traditional Southern quilt composed of thousands of hand-cut, individually folded fabric pieces sewn in concentric circles that resemble the scales of a pinecone. The name reflects both the natural inspiration for the pattern and the regions where it originated, including North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

Ford-Smith's quilts are striking, contemporary interpretations of the traditional pinecone quilt, a form rooted in African American quilting practices of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. This exhibition marks the first major solo presentation of her work. Her quilts have been collected nationwide, including by major institutions such as the Smithsonian American Art Museum. Also on view are antique quilts from her personal collection, including examples from the renowned Gee's Bend community.

Portraits in Passing: Contemporary Chinese Brush Painting by A.E. Kozeliski

The subjects in “Portraits in Passing” are the people of the street — those encountered in daily life yet often overlooked: the wanderers, the unhoused and the forgotten. Through Tallahassee-based artist A.E. Kozeliski’s brush, these fleeting figures become thought-provoking reflections of contemporary society. Rather than traditional portraits, they capture a moment in time, revealing glimpses of humanity that might otherwise go unnoticed. As Kozeliski notes, “I have embraced an ancient art form and through the depiction of contemporary subject matter I have made it my own while respecting its traditions.”

Opening in the Balcony Gallery for Florida Artists, each work invites viewers to engage personally and to find their own stories within the faces and gestures portrayed. As subtle details reveal themselves, the once unseen become visible, gaining presence and dignity through the artist’s hand.

Rooted in the ancient traditions of Chinese brush painting, Kozeliski’s process draws on the discipline’s four foundational strokes, techniques that require mastery of brush pressure, water-ink balance, and handmade paper selection. Painting in the Mogufa (“boneless”) style, she captures not physical likeness but the energy, or qi, of her subjects. Composed without backgrounds, these minimal yet expressive portraits allow a simple line or gesture to suggest place, emotion and humanity.

Artist Talk and Demonstration Saturday, April 4, 1 p.m.

Join Kozeliski in the auditorium on the April 4 Free First Saturday for a talk on the works featured in “Portraits in Passing.” Learn about her contemporary Chinese brush-painting techniques and enjoy a live demonstration. Free; no reservations needed to attend.

“Purple Rain,” Chinese brush painting on Double Xuan using Eastern watercolors and Japanese “Sumi” ink, 22 x 27 in., On loan from the artist.

CURATORIAL NEWS

Art Minutes: Small Segments, Big Impact

Videos in the Appleton's Art Minutes series may last only five minutes or so, but hours of work go into creating these concise yet informative looks at works from the permanent collection.

Each Art Minutes video begins with careful planning. Museum Specialist Kerry Elkins begins by reviewing the exhibition calendar and planning a schedule of one video per month, timed to coincide with the longstanding First Friday Art Fact. Research then begins, often for multiple videos at once, by gathering existing information on each artwork from museum files. Elkins expands on this foundation by consulting books, articles and other museums' collections to develop fresh, up-to-date content that builds upon existing research.

Elkins truly has a hand in each video from start to finish. She writes the script and, with the help of Graphic Design and Social Media Coordinator Lisa Taylor, develops visuals, which can include photographing or filming the artwork, sourcing images of the artist, and incorporating other elements that help tell a compelling story for the viewer. Once the script is recorded and background music is selected, all of the elements are combined. When the final video is complete, it is uploaded to the Appleton YouTube channel on the Art Minutes playlist.

Since taking on the project in 2022, Elkins has produced more than 40 Art Minutes videos. In addition to showcasing works from the collection, the series has significantly expanded the Appleton's reach on YouTube, with subscribers increasing by 273% since 2022. The Appleton channel now boasts more subscribers than any other college or university museum in Florida!

If you haven't already, take a few moments to visit YouTube.com/@AppletonMuseum or scan the QR code and explore the Art Minutes playlist — each video offers a new way to connect with the Appleton collection.

After Hours with Bouguereau: An Invitation for Appleton Director's Circle Members

The last quarter of 2025 was all about William-Adolphe Bouguereau, as Appleton staff dedicated extensive time to researching the artist and his oeuvre in preparation for three Art Minutes videos in honor of the artist's 200th birthday. The focus of the videos are three visitor-favorite paintings and foundational works in the Appleton collection: "Young Shepherdess," "Youth and Love" and "Knitter." Now complete, the Art Minutes are available on the Appleton YouTube channel and we invite you take some time to watch and learn more about these important works.

We also invite our Director's Circle members to a special event where we'll share fascinating Bouguereau research that didn't make it into the Art Minutes videos, including insights into his connections with other artists represented in the Appleton collection, as well as notable figures from art history. For example, did you know that Pierre Auguste Cot was a student of Bouguereau, one of a few chosen by the artist to work on faithful reproductions of his paintings? The evening will also feature wine from the Loire Valley, just outside Bouguereau's birthplace, La Rochelle, a coastal city in southwestern France.

Thursday, April 9
5-6:30 p.m.

Meet in the café for wines from the Loire Valley and light snacks. You will be permitted to bring your wine into the auditorium for the Bouguereau talk by Appleton Museum Specialist Kerry Elkins. The talk will begin at 5:30 p.m. RSVP is required to Colleen Harper, harperc@cf.edu, or 352-291-4455, ext. 1831.

If you haven't already, take a few moments to visit YouTube.com/@AppletonMuseum or scan the QR code and explore the Bouguereau playlist.
